

Script of Community Used Clothes Recycling Bank Scheme – Used clothes recycling

Among all of your clothes, are there any of them you haven't worn since the purchase? Or that they don't even fit your size or style?

I guess I have never worn at least eighty percent of them.

It looked nothing like what the pictured model wore.

I just couldn't wear it with the same air of confidence.

There is around one third of the clothes I've bought that I rarely wear.

Since I've bought them from overseas, sometimes the sizes do not fit those of us Asians.

Zippers not zipping. Buttons not buttoning.

You only pick clothes from the top pile every time. I've never seen you wear clothes from deep inside the wardrobe.

This is because you've filled up all the space so it's difficult to find my other clothes.

Have you thought of donating your clothes?

We are not sure how to deal with used clothes. Handling them can be very distressing.

By donating, we can take part in the "Used Clothes Recycling Campaign". Under the Home Affairs Department's "Community Used Clothes Recycling Bank Scheme", charitable organisations will value the donated clothes, handle with care, and distribute them to people in need. There are also organisations which sell secondhand wear through consignment to promote fashion reuse.

Join us in "Used Clothes Recycling" for such a good cause!
